

Instructions to Authors

Science Vision is a quarterly, refereed, and official journal of the Mizo Academy of Sciences. All kinds of information, both solicited and unsolicited, from all fields of science are published in the form of original research, research review, general article, hypothesis, commentary, report, letters and news. Manuscripts are accepted on the basis of credibility and suitability as per the style and scope of the journal.

Manuscript can be prepared in English (also in Mizo for general article). All texts should be in MS Word (.doc/docx), single spaced, and default font. There should not be any decorative borders, fonts, lines, indents and tabs anywhere. Tables and figures should come in separate pages at the end, and numbered consecutively as they are referred to in the text.

The title should be concise and plain, and the title page must contain full name(s) of the author(s), with complete mailing address of affiliation(s)/institute(s). In a multi-authored paper, the corresponding author should be marked with asterisk (*) after the name, and he/she must provide e-mail, and telephone/fax/mobile numbers.

Manuscripts containing original research and research review are subject to peer review. Original research can either be in full length or in short note articles. All original research should be necessarily written in English for the purpose of unanimity and universality.

The text for original research should be divided sequentially into Title page, Abstract, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results, Discussion, and References. Abstract should be limited to 200-300 words for full length article, and to 100-200 for short article. Abstract should be accompanied by key words arranged in alphabetical order. Compliance to ethical standard for experiments involving animals or humans and clinical trials should be declared in the Materials and Methods.

References should be each numbered in consecutive Arabic numerals in superscripts in the text in the order of their appearance, and entry in the reference may follow the general

APA style, or be in analogy to the examples:

1. Journal: Pachuau, Z., Zoliana, B., Zadeng, L. & Thapa R.K. (2003). Photoemission from surfaces of metals. Science Vision 3, 17-19.
2. Book/chapter: Lalramnghinglova, H. (2003). State-of-the-art report on ethnomedicines and their plant resources in Mizoram. In: Ethnomedicine of North-East India (G. Singh, H.B. Singh & T.K. Mukherjee, eds), NISCAIR, CSIR, New Delhi, India, pp. 1-62.
3. Internet: Hopkin, H. (2004). Ancient ape gives clue to family origin. news.nature.com/news (18 November 2004).

Research review shall follow the organization as that of original research, excepting Materials and Methods and Results, which can be replaced with appropriate headings for the topic under discussion.

The manuscript should strictly adhere to internationally agreed rules of scientific nomenclature such as those adopted by the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry (IUPAC), the international system (SI) of units, and the International Code of Botanical/Zoological Nomenclature (ICBN/ICZN). Names of organisms should include the full binomial, authority, and family in the first reference in the body of the manuscript (e.g. Homo sapiens Linnaeus or L.; family Hominidae).

Submission is recommended through the e-mail: sciencevision@outlook.com. Submission will be taken to imply that it has not been published previously or concurrently submitted elsewhere, and that all authors have consented to its publication.

Manuscript not conforming to these instructions shall be summarily rejected.
